COUNTRY HOUSE

A polo lodge in a converted stable block near Stonehenge, this holiday home was decorated by Henriette von Stockhausen and Jane Petti, of VSP Interiors (vspinteriors.com).

The photo shows a small area of a large drawing room, made cosy, despite its size, by the designers' warm, classic decorative scheme, featuring dark polished timber panelling and furniture, silver barware, oil paintings, leather seats and colourful kilim fabrics. The idea is that the owners can relax in comfort and style after riding, and a key brand used to create this "country club" look is Ralph Lauren Home. Rugs are sourced from Robert Stephenson and finishing touches such as log baskets come from Marston & Langer. The stone fireplace completes the look (for something similar, try aftertheantique.com; from £2,200).
